Note: This brochure is NOT an official U.S. Postal Service directive. It is intended only as an overview of compensation, relocation benefits, and reinstatement policies for career employees. It should not be used or cited as an official source document. Policies and regulations governing these programs are provided in various postal manuals and handbooks. Several of these programs are governed by federal law and specific regulations issued by the U.S. Office of Personnel Management. Finally, the scope and level of benefits provided by many of these programs are subject to the collective bargaining process and are defined in the applicable collective bargaining agreement.

Introduction

With the closing of your facility, you will have many major decisions to make over the next several months that will affect you and your family both financially and personally. While many employees will decide to continue their employment with the Postal Service and, if necessary, relocate to other areas of the country, others will elect to pursue employment opportunities that are of special interest to them.

The information contained in this brochure is intended to provide you with an overview of the benefits you may be entitled to whether you decide to stay with the Postal Service or to pursue another career path. Whichever you decide, the Postal Service recognizes the contribution you have made to achieving Postal Service goals and is committed to making your transition as easy and smooth as possible.

The questions and answers below provide an overview of the various compensation and benefit programs available to career postal employees. Additional information is always available from your personnel office.

Health Insurance

1 Can I continue my health insurance coverage into retirement?

If you are eligible for a voluntary optional retirement or a discontinued service annuity (see questions 15 and 16) and you have been enrolled or covered as a family member in the Federal Employees Health Benefits (FEHB) Program either (a) for at least 5 years of service immediately preceding the commencing date of your annuity or (b) for the full period(s) of service during which coverage was available, you are eligible to continue your health insurance into retirement.

Accrued and unused annual leave or donated leave may be used to meet the 5-year requirement to continue the health insurance and/or the age and service requirements to qualify for a discontinued service annuity. The leave, however, may only be used to the extent needed to satisfy the above requirements. Any remaining leave balance will be paid in a terminal leave payment. Sick leave may not be used to meet the requirements mentioned above. Enrollees who fail to satisfy the 5-year enrollment requirement due to exceptional circumstances may submit a request for waiver including supporting evidence to the Office of Personnel Management (OPM). Based on the evidence submitted, OPM will determine whether to waive the participation requirement and allow FEHB coverage to be continued into retirement.

If you are eligible for a FERS annuity under the “minimum retirement age (MRA) and 10 years of service” provision at the time of separation (see question 16) but elect to postpone your annuity in order to lessen the annuity reductions, you may choose to resume your health insurance coverage on the date your annuity begins, provided you are otherwise eligible for FEHB continuation of coverage. During the postponed retirement period, you may convert to a nongroup contract (individual policy) as described in question 4 below.

2 If I am not eligible for retirement benefits, will my health insurance coverage terminate upon separation?

If you are not eligible for a voluntary optional retirement or a discontinued service annuity, your health insurance coverage will terminate following an automatic 31-day temporary extension of coverage. Your health insurance enrollment will terminate on the last day of the pay period in which you are separated from the Postal Service, and the 31-day temporary extension of coverage will begin the day after the regular coverage ends. However, if you are confined in a hospital on the 31st day of the temporary extension of coverage, benefits will continue during confinement up to a maximum of 60 more days. These temporary extensions of coverage are without cost to you and also apply to all covered family members.

3 Do I have any other options to continue my health insurance coverage?

---

Yes, you will receive from the personnel office advising you notification that your group health insurance coverage will terminate and information concerning the two options available to you for continuing your health insurance coverage beyond the 31-day temporary extension. You have these two options:

- Converting to a nongroup contract (individual policy) by the carrier of the plan you are enrolled in at the time of your separation.
- Electing 18 months of coverage under the Temporary Continuation of Coverage (TCC) provision of the FEHB Program.

4 How do I convert my health insurance coverage to a nongroup contract?

You must send a written request to the plan carrier within 91 days after your enrollment ends or 31 days after the date the termination notice was signed by an official at your personnel office, whichever is earlier. The plan carrier will then send you an application form and cost information about the nongroup coverage. You will be responsible for paying the total premium cost for this coverage.

5 How do I elect Temporary Continuation of Coverage (TCC)?

You must complete and submit Standard Form 2809, Health Benefits Registration Form, to your personnel office within 60 days after (a) the date of separation or (b) the date you received notification from your personnel office advising you of the options available for continuing your health insurance coverage, whichever is later.

What plan choices do I have under TCC?

---

You may choose any FEHB plan, option, or type of coverage that you are eligible to select. A list of participating plans and corresponding monthly premium rates is provided in Booklet RI 70-5, FEHB Guide for Individuals Eligible to Enroll for Temporary Continuation of Coverage Under the Spouse Equity Law or Similar Statutes, which is available from your personnel office. If you elect TCC, you will be responsible for the full premium cost plus a 2 percent administrative surcharge.

If I elect one of the two options available for continuing my health insurance coverage, when is coverage effective?

---

The effective date of coverage under both options is the day after the expiration of the 31-day temporary extension. When TCC expires after 18 months, you will be entitled to a free 31-day temporary extension of coverage for the purposes of converting to a nongroup contract (individual policy) with the plan.

---

Life Insurance

8 Can I continue my life insurance coverage into retirement?

---

If you are eligible for a voluntary optional retirement or a discontinued service annuity and you have been enrolled in the Federal Employees Group Life Insurance (FEGLI) Program for at least 5 years or since your first opportunity to elect it, you are eligible to continue your life insurance coverage into retirement. The “5-year or first opportunity” requirement applies separately to Basic coverage and to each individual option (i.e., Optional A — Standard, Option B — Additional, and Option C — Family).

9 If I am not eligible for retirement benefits, will my life insurance coverage terminate upon separation?

Your life insurance coverage will terminate following an automatic 31-day temporary extension.

10 Do I have any other options to continue my life insurance coverage?

Yes, following your separation, your personnel office will issue Standard Form 2819, Notice of Conversion Privilege, advising you that your group life insurance coverage will terminate and providing information concerning your right to convert to an individual direct-pay policy, provided you have not assigned your FEGLI coverage to another party. If you have assigned your life insurance coverage, only the assignees may convert the insurance coverage.

11 How do I convert my life insurance to a nongroup contract?

If you are eligible, you are required to complete the appropriate eligibility statement on the SF 2819 and mail it to the OFFICE OF FEDERAL EMPLOYEES GROUP LIFE INSURANCE, 200 PARK AVENUE, NEW YORK, NY 10166-0188. Your eligibility statement must be mailed within 31 days after (a) the date of separation or (b) the date you received notification from your personnel office advising you of your conversion right, whichever is later. An individual policy will not include disability or accidental death or dismemberment benefits.

12 How much will a nongroup life insurance contract cost?

The premiums for a nongroup life insurance contract will be determined by the type and amount of the coverage and your age and class of risk on the day following termination of your group coverage. You will be responsible for the total premium cost associated with the nongroup life insurance contract.

13 If I elect to convert to a nongroup life insurance contract, when will coverage begin?

If you elect to convert to a nongroup life insurance contract, coverage and premium payments will be effective retroactive to the day after the 31-day temporary extension ended. Any insurance policy purchased under the conversion privilege is a private business transaction between the individual and the insurance company.

14 If I make an election during the FEGLI 1999 open enrollment period (April 24 through July 30, 1999) and I am subsequently separated from the Postal Service, will I be able to convert this new coverage or carry it with me into retirement?

Coverage options elected during the FEGLI 1999 open enrollment period become effective on April 23, 2000, at the earliest, if you meet the pay and duty status requirements during the pay period before April 23, 2000. If you do not meet the pay and duty status requirements, then the effective date is delayed until you do. If you are a full-time employee, you must be in a pay and duty status for at least 32 hours during this pay period. If you are a part-time employee with a regular tour of duty, you must be in a pay and duty status for one-half of your regular tour of duty during this pay period. On the other hand, if you are employed on an intermittent basis (e.g., you are a part-time flexible employee), during this pay period you must be in a pay and duty status for one-half the number of hours you customarily worked. If you make an open enrollment election but you separate or retire before April 23, 2000, or before you meet the pay and duty status requirements, the newly elected coverage never becomes effective.

If your newly elected coverage becomes effective and is terminated upon separation from the Postal Service, you may convert the life insurance to a nongroup contract as described in questions 10 and 11. In order to continue newly elected coverage into retirement, you must meet the “five-year or first opportunity” requirement, as discussed in question 8. For instance, if you elect Option B during the open enrollment period, the coverage must be in effect for 5 years before you retire in order to continue it. This is because the open enrollment period would not be your first opportunity to elect Option B coverage. However, since 2 to 5 multiples of Option C coverage were not available before the 1999 open enrollment period, it is the first opportunity you have had to elect this type of coverage. If you retire any time after these additional multiples go into effect, you will be eligible to continue the increased coverage, provided you meet the continuation requirement based on your previous “first-time” election of Option C.

Severance Pay and Discontinued Service Annuity

15 Will I be entitled to severance pay or a discontinued service annuity?

If you voluntarily resign from the Postal Service, you are not entitled to either severance pay or a discontinued service annuity. On the other hand, if you are involuntarily separated from the Postal Service because you do not accept a directed reassignment outside your commuting area or due to a reduction in force, you may be entitled to either severance pay or a discontinued service annuity. In no instance can you receive both severance pay and a discontinued service annuity. If you are eligible for a discontinued service annuity, you are automatically disqualified from receiving severance pay. Additional information concerning each of these benefits is provided below:

Severance Pay. If you have been employed continuously by the Postal Service and/or another federal agency as a civilian for at least 12 consecutive months immediately before your separation, you are eligible for severance pay, unless one of the following applies:

- You are entitled to an immediate retirement annuity (including a discontinued service annuity).
- You are offered and decline a position with the Postal Service or another federal agency of like seniority, tenure, and pay within your commuting area.
- You are receiving compensation at the time of separation as a beneficiary of the Federal Employees Compensation Act (Injury Compensation), unless you are receiving this compensation concurrently with postal pay. In such cases, severance pay is based on the postal pay only.

- You are separated because of your entry into the military service.
  - You are separated for cause on charges of misconduct, delinquency, or inefficiency.

If you are found eligible, a severance pay fund is established for you. The amount of the fund is based on 1 week of basic salary for each year of creditable service up to 10 years plus 2 weeks of basic salary for each year of creditable service in excess of 10 years. Each 3-month period of service that exceeds 1 or more full years of service is computed as 25 percent of a full year. The basic severance pay allowance is increased by 10 percent for each year your age exceeds 40 years at the time of separation. In no instance, however, can your total severance pay fund exceed 52 weeks of your basic salary.

Severance pay is received on a pay period basis in the amount of 2 times your basic weekly salary, less withholdings, until the severance pay fund is exhausted or you are reemployed by the Postal Service or another federal agency.

Discontinued Service Annuity. You may be eligible for an immediate, possibly reduced, discontinued service annuity if you meet all of the following conditions, as required by the Office of Personnel Management:

- f. Minimum Age and Service Requirements. You must be either at least age 50 with at least 20 years of creditable service or any age with at least 25 years of creditable service. Creditable service must include at least 5 years of civilian service. Accrued and unused annual leave or donated leave may be used to meet the age and service requirements to qualify for a discontinued service annuity and/or the 5-year requirement to continue your health insurance coverage during retirement. The annual or donated leave, however, may only be used to the extent needed to satisfy the above requirements. Any remaining leave balance will be paid in a terminal leave payment. Sick leave may not be used to meet the requirements mentioned above.

- g. Separation From Covered Position. You must be separated from a position that is covered by the Civil Service Retirement System (CSRS), CSRS Offset, or the Federal Employees Retirement System (FERS).
  - h. “One Out of Two” Requirement Under CSRS. If you are covered by CSRS or CSRS Offset, you must have been subject to retirement contributions for at least 1 year within the 2-year period immediately preceding the separation upon which the annuity is based. The 1 year of service does not have to be continuous. This requirement does not apply if you are covered by FERS.
  - i. Reasonable Offer. If you refuse a reasonable offer of another position, you will not qualify for a discontinued service annuity. For discontinued service annuity purposes, a job offer is considered a “reasonable offer” if these three requirements are met: (1) the offer is made in writing; (2) you meet the qualifications for the position being offered; and (3) the position offered is within your local commuting area, is of the same tenure group (e.g., career vs. noncareer), is within the same work schedule (e.g., full-time vs. part-time), and is not more than the equivalent of two grade or pay levels below your current grade or pay level.
  - j. Annuity Amount. If you are a CSRS or CSRS Offset employee, your annuity will be computed like a voluntary optional retirement. However, if you are under age 55, your annuity will be reduced at the rate of 2 percent a year, or by 1/6 of 1 percent for each full month you are under age 55. If you have a life-threatening affliction or other critical medical condition (as defined in 5 CFR 831.2207), you may be eligible to elect the alternative form of annuity that provides for both an annuity and a lump sum payment of your retirement contributions.

If you are a FERS employee, there is no reduction in your annuity if you retire under the age of 55. However, if a portion of your annuity is based on a benefit that you accrued under CSRS, that portion of your annuity is subject to the reduction mentioned above for CSRS and CSRS Offset employees.

16 Is it better to apply for a voluntary optional retirement or a discontinued service annuity?

First, you must qualify for a voluntary optional retirement. If you are a CSRS or CSRS Offset employee, you must meet one of the following age and service requirements: (a) be age 55 with at least 30 years of service, (b) be age 60 with at least 20 years of service, or (c) be age 62 with at least 5 years of service. As a CSRS or CSRS Offset employee, you must also meet the one out of two requirement explained in question 15c above under Discontinued Service Annuity and have at least 5 years of civilian service.

If you are a FERS employee, you are eligible for an immediate unreduced annuity if you meet one of the following service and age requirements: (a) be minimum retirement age (MRA) with 30 years of service, (b) be age 60 with at least 20 years of service, or (c) be age 62 with at least 5 years of service. If you do not qualify for an immediate unreduced annuity, you may be eligible for a regular voluntary retirement but with a reduced annuity. To be eligible, you must have reached your MRA with a minimum of 10 years of service. Your MRA depends on your year of birth. The MRA under FERS ranges between age 55 and 57. For example, if you were born before 1948, your MRA is age 55. To qualify for an annuity, you must have at least 5 years of civilian service.

Your choice between a voluntary optional retirement and a discontinued service annuity may depend on whether you are interested in being reemployed by the Postal Service or another federal agency. If you elect a discontinued service annuity, upon reemployment to a position subject to a federal retirement system your annuity will be terminated. You will also be required to reestablish your entitlement to retirement benefits. On the other hand, if you are receiving a voluntary optional retirement and you are subsequently reemployed into a covered position, you are considered a reemployed annuitant and your salary will be offset by the amount of your annuity.

17 If I am not eligible for retirement, what other options do I have?

If you do not meet the requirements for a discontinued service annuity or a voluntary optional retirement, you may apply for a refund of your retirement contributions in a lump sum payment or leave your retirement contributions in the retirement fund and apply for a deferred annuity at a later date. To be eligible for a deferred annuity, a CSRS or CSRS Offset employee must be at least age 62 and have at least 5 years of creditable civilian service, with at least 1 of the last 2 years covered by retirement contributions. A FERS employee with at least 5 years of creditable civilian service is eligible to apply for a deferred annuity at the time the age requirement is met to match the appropriate years of service or at the employee's MRA with at least 10 years of creditable service. For example, if an employee had acquired 20 years of service but was under age 60 at the time of separation, a deferred retirement could begin at age 60 with no reduction.

Flexible Spending Account

18 Can I continue to participate in the Flexible Spending Account Program?

You can continue to request reimbursement from your flexible spending accounts only for the expenses of eligible services received before the date of separation. You may receive reimbursement for up to the full annual amount for the health care FSA and up to the account balance for the dependent care FSA. Any services received on or after the date of separation are not eligible for reimbursement. However, the deadline for submitting a withdrawal request does not change. Claims will be processed provided they are received by the FSA Customer Service Center by June 30 of the year following the year of program participation. You must pay contributions to your flexible spending accounts to equal the abbreviated coverage period. For example, if you elected to contribute $2,600 to the Health Care FSA (at $100 per pay period) and you separate after 10 pay periods, you will pay for the 10 pay periods ($1,000), not the full 26 pay periods.

Thrift Savings Plan

19 Can I continue to participate in the Thrift Savings Plan?

Following your separation, you are not eligible to make additional contributions or borrow money from your Thrift Savings Plan (TSP) account. However, you may continue to reallocate money in your TSP account among the various investment choices (Government Securities Investment (G) Fund, Common Stock Index Investment (C) Fund and Fixed Income Index Investment (F) Fund) as well as other funds scheduled to become available in the near future.

---

20 Will I receive any information concerning my TSP withdrawal options?

Yes, at the time of your separation, your local personnel office will provide a TSP withdrawal package that includes the booklet Withdrawing Your TSP Account, necessary forms, and a notice on tax information.

21 As a FERS employee, am I entitled to the Agency Automatic (1 percent) Contributions made by the Postal Service to my TSP account?

If you have at least 3 years of federal civilian service, you are considered as vested in the Agency Automatic (1percent) Contributions and the earnings on those contributions. If you do not have the required 3 years of federal civilian service to meet the vesting requirement for them, those contributions and the earnings on them will be removed from your account and forfeited to the TSP. You are always vested in your own contributions, Agency Matching Contributions, and the earnings on them.

22 I am vested in only a small amount in my TSP account. Do I have any options concerning these monies?

If your vested account balance is $3,500 or less upon your separation, you are subject to the TSP automatic cashout procedures. TSP will automatically pay your vested account balance directly to you, unless you make another withdrawal election or elect to leave your money in the TSP. If you want to receive an automatic payment of your vested account, you do not need to submit any withdrawal forms to TSP. On the hand, if you want to keep your money in the TSP or have TSP transfer all or part of your payment to an IRA or another qualified plan, you must promptly return the appropriate forms included with your cashout notice received from TSP. Of course, you also have the options of electing another withdrawal option by submitting the Form TSP-70 that will be included in the withdrawal package provided to you by your local personnel office.

23 Who do I contact if I have I questions concerning my TSP account?

---

Following your separation, you must contact the TSP Service Office for assistance with TSP questions. It is extremely important to advise the TSP Service Office of any changes in your address. A change of address form is included in the withdrawal package sent to you by your personnel office. The TSP Service Office can be contacted at the following address and telephone numbers:

THRIFT SAVINGS PLAN SERVICE OFFICE
NATIONAL FINANCE CENTER
PO BOX 61500
NEW ORLEANS, LA 70161-1500

TELEPHONE: (504) 255-6000
TDD: (504) 255-5113

24 Can I withdraw funds from my TSP account?

---

Upon your separation, you are eligible to withdraw funds from your TSP account. Funds may be withdrawn immediately or left in TSP and withdrawn at a future date.

25 What TSP withdrawal options do I have available?

Withdrawal options include receiving a life annuity, receiving a single payment, receiving a series of equal monthly payments, or transferring all or part of a single payment or certain types of monthly payments to an Individual Retirement Account (IRA) or other qualified plan. An election of a withdrawal option may be changed to a different option only before funds are paid out, with one exception — even after a series of monthly payments has begun, it is possible to elect a single final payment.

26 How long will it take to withdraw funds from my TSP account?

Generally, the TSP Service Office advises individuals that disbursement of funds may take up to 2 months following separation and receipt of properly completed forms. An employee must be separated from employment for 31 or more full calendar days before funds can be withdrawn. In addition, before a withdrawal can be processed, the TSP Service Office must receive a code indicating separation status. This code is automatically generated by the Postal Service and transmitted electronically to the TSP Service Office.

The TSP Service Office makes withdrawal payments once each month, about mid-month. If a participant's account is invested only in the G Fund, then a withdrawal election simply needs to be received in time for it to be processed on the mid-month payment date. However, if an account is invested in either the C or F Fund, then a withdrawal election must be received sooner. It must be received in time to be processed on the next-to-last business day of the month in order for a withdrawal to be processed on the following month's mid-month payment cycle. Finally, if a participant has an outstanding loan, this will delay payment. (Before a withdrawal can be processed, either the loan must be repaid or the TSP Service Office must declare a taxable distribution.)

27 What tax consequences should I consider when withdrawing from my TSP account?

All contributions to TSP and the earnings on these contributions are tax-deferred and, therefore, are considered as taxable income upon withdrawal. For this reason, it is important that you understand the tax consequences of each withdrawal option. You should carefully review the tax information provided in the withdrawal package.

28 Can I transfer my TSP funds directly to an Individual Retirement Account (IRA) or another qualified plan?

---

Yes. When TSP funds are transferred directly to an IRA or another qualified plan, the funds are not taxed upon transfer. The funds will be taxed upon withdrawal from the IRA or another qualifying plan.

29 Are there any unique taxes that I should be aware of when I consider withdrawing my TSP funds?

If you are separated before the year in which you turn age 55 and withdraw funds from your TSP account, you may be subject to a 10 percent early withdrawal penalty tax on all amounts withdrawn before age 59½. This penalty tax applies if the withdrawal option selected is either a single payment or a series of monthly payments not based upon the IRS life expectancy table. The penalty tax does not apply if you transfer your TSP funds directly to an IRA or other qualified plan, receive an annuity, or receive a series of monthly payments based upon IRS life expectancy tables.

30 What can I do to alleviate the tax burden if I withdraw all my TSP funds during one tax year?

If you receive your entire TSP account balance in 1 tax year, you may be able to use income tax averaging to reduce your tax liability. Review the TSP notice on tax information provided to you upon separation.

31 Does my spouse have any rights concerning how I withdraw my TSP funds?

Your spouse does have certain rights when the value of your TSP account exceeds $3,500. If you are covered by the Federal Employees Retirement System (FERS), your spouse has a right for the withdrawal option to be a certain type of joint life annuity. Before the TSP Service Office will process any other withdrawal option, your spouse must sign the waiver on the TSP withdrawal form. If you are covered by the Civil Service Retirement System (CSRS), your spouse is entitled to be notified by the TSP Service Office of the withdrawal option you elect. There are cases when exceptions can be made, such as when the spouse's whereabouts are unknown or when certain other exceptional circumstances exist.

Variable Pay Program (Nonbargaining Unit Employees Only)

32 If I separate from the Postal Service, am I entitled to any distributions from the Variable Pay Program?

If you separate from the Postal Service for any reason other than for misconduct and you have a reserve account balance under the Variable Pay Program, you are eligible for a distribution under the following conditions:

- If your separation is after the last day of the fiscal year and before the variable pay payment date, your reserve account will be credited under the Variable Pay Program criteria applicable to the preceding fiscal year (including positive or negative credits and exclusions). Following these adjustments, if any, you will receive a distribution of your entire reserve account balance or, in the case of death, your estate will receive the distribution on the payment date applicable to active employees.
- If your separation is before the end of the current fiscal year, you (or, in the case of death, your estate) will receive a distribution of your reserve account balance at the time of your separation. No credit will be applied for the current fiscal year.

Leave

33 If I separate from the Postal Service, what happens to my earned and unused annual leave?

---

- If you are a bargaining unit employee and have completed your 90-day probationary period, you may be eligible for a lump sum payment for the balance of your earned and unused annual leave (including any unused donated leave), up to your annual leave carryover limit at the time of separation.
- If you are a nonbargaining unit employee, you may be eligible for a lump sum payment for your earned and unused annual leave up to your annual leave carryover limit plus any annual leave earned and unused in the current year as well as any unused donated leave.

34 What happens to my lump sum payment if I am reemployed by the Postal Service or another federal agency?

If you are subsequently reemployed by the Postal Service or another federal agency before the period covered by your lump sum payment expires, you must refund the portion of the payment applicable to the overlapping period.

35 What happens to my accumulated sick leave balance?

No payments are made for accumulated sick leave. If you are separated from the Postal Service for reasons other than retirement and you are subsequently reemployed by the Postal Service or another federal agency within 3 years following your separation, your accumulated sick leave balance will be recredited to your account.

36 Is my accumulated sick leave treated differently for retirement purposes?

If you retire on a voluntary optional retirement or a discontinued service annuity under the Civil Service Retirement System (CSRS), you can receive additional service credit towards your retirement or survivor annuity. If you retire under the Federal Employees Retirement System (FERS), your sick leave is not credited towards additional service credit for annuity computation purposes unless you transferred to FERS from CSRS and your annuity has a CSRS component. In these situations, you can receive additional service credit based on the sick leave balance you accrued at the time you transferred to FERS or your sick leave balance at the time of your retirement, whichever is less.

37 What if I am indebted to the Postal Service for unearned annual or sick leave?

If you are indebted to the Postal Service for unearned annual or sick leave, you must refund the amount paid for the unearned leave. If you do not refund the amount of the indebtedness, deductions will be made from any funds that you are due upon your separation.

Unemployment Compensation

38 Can I apply for unemployment compensation?

Yes, any employee who is separated may apply for unemployment compensation. Your personnel office will provide you with Standard Form 8, Notices to Federal Employees About Unemployment Insurance. This form explains the general eligibility requirements for unemployment compensation and the steps to file a claim for benefits.

Change to Lower Level

39 As a nonbargaining unit employee, what happens to my grade and salary if I voluntarily elect to change to a lower level position?

Since the Postal Service has activated its RIF avoidance procedures, if you are voluntarily placed into a lower grade position, your current grade will be reduced to the grade of the lower level position immediately. However, you will be eligible for 2 years of protected salary.

40 What is protected salary for nonbargaining unit employees?

Protected salary provides that if your current salary does not fall into the salary range of the lower level position, you are eligible to retain your current salary for a period not to exceed 2 years (104 weeks). During this 2-year period, you may receive merit lump sum payments and variable pay amounts based on your protected salary and the policies applicable to employees at or above the maximum salary of their grade.

If at the end of the 2-year period your protected salary is still above the maximum of the lower grade position, your salary will be reduced to the maximum salary for the lower grade position.

Relocation Benefits

41 As a nonbargaining unit employee, if I am reassigned to another position or I am successful in obtaining another position either competitively or noncompetitively, to what relocation benefits am I entitled?

If your new position is outside your current commuting area, you will be entitled to relocation benefits applicable to EAS employees. See the table below for an overview of relocation benefits available for EAS employees.

Overview of Relocation Benefits for Craft and EAS Employees

Relocation Benefit	Craft Employees	EAS Employees
▪ Advance house hunting	1 trip	Up to 3 trips
▪ Dependents on trip	No	Yes
▪ Return trips to old station	No	1 trip
▪ Miscellaneous expense allowance	$300	$2,500
▪ En route expenses	Yes	Yes

▪ Relocation leave	5 days	5 days

* Temporary quarters allowances are based on actual expenses with a cap limit. For example, for a 30-day period a craft employee with a spouse and one child moving to a low-cost area can claim actual expenses not to exceed $2,085. For that employee moving to a high-cost area, the actual expense cannot exceed $2,540. For an EAS employee, a spouse and one child for a 30-day period, the actual expenses can not exceed $2,851 for a low-cost area and $4,730 for a high-cost area.

42 As a craft employee, if I am reassigned to another position outside my commuting area under the terms of my collective bargaining agreement, am I entitled to any relocation benefits?

Yes, if your reassignment is involuntary and falls under the provisions of Article 12 and your new position is outside your commuting area, you are entitled to relocation benefits as specified under Article 12.5.B.5 of your collective bargaining agreement. See the table above for an overview of relocation benefits available to craft employees.

Reinstatement Policies

43 Does it matter whether I am voluntarily or involuntarily separated from the Postal Service in being considered for reinstatement at a later date?

No, provided your separation was not a removal action for cause or that you resigned after being notified that charges proposing removal would be, or had been issued. You may be considered for reinstatement, provided you meet the qualification standards, including any required examinations, for the position for which you are requesting reinstatement. Depending on your status, you may also be subject to certain time limits that may restrict the period you are eligible for reinstatement.

44 What are the time limits for reinstatement to the Postal Service?

If you are entitled to veterans' preference or have completed the service requirements for career status (i.e., 3 years of substantially continuous creditable service), you may be reinstated without any time limit. If you do not meet either of these two conditions, you may be reinstated only within 3 years following the date of your separation.

---

45 If I am a nonbargaining employee separated as a result of a reduction in force (RIF), am I entitled to any priority consideration for reinstatement?

---

Yes, you can request that your name be entered on a reinstatement list (RL) by completing and submitting Form 999, Application for Reinstatement List. If you are found eligible to participate, you will be given priority consideration for reinstatement to the Postal Service for up to 2 years following the establishment of the RL.

46 How do I qualify for the reinstatement list?

You must submit your Form 999 (and pages 1 and 2 of Form 991, Application for Reassignment or Promotion) within 30 days following your RIF effective date. In addition, you must be found minimally qualified for the positions identified on your Form 999, your most current merit performance rating of record must be above Unacceptable, the positions must be authorized positions, and the position grade levels must be equal to or below the grade of the position you held before your separation.

47 If my name is on the reinstatement list, will I be considered for positions nationwide?

No, you can only be considered for vacant positions within your reinstatement list area of consideration (RLAC). An RLAC covers an area that is approximately a 50-mile radius of your competitive area (or your REC facility).

48 Will my name remain on the reinstatement list for the entire 2-year period?

Yes, unless you are disqualified or placed. You can be disqualified if you (a) request that your name be removed from the RL, (b) fail to respond to an employment inquiry from the Postal Service, (c) decline or fail to appear at an interview for a postal position, (d) decline a career appointment to a postal position, or (e) fail to update your address or telephone number and this prevents reasonable contact with you concerning employment opportunities with the Postal Service. Your name will also be removed from further RL consideration if you subsequently accept a career appointment with the Postal Service or another federal agency.

49 Once I qualify to participate on the reinstatement list, what priority consideration will I be given?

Before a career nonbargaining unit vacancy is advertised either internally or externally within your RLAC, Human Resources will review the RL to determine whether any of the applicants on the list have been found minimally qualified for the vacant position. If one or more applicants are identified, the selecting official is required to review pages 1 and 2 of the applicant's Form 991 and make a determination whether to consider the applicant further. If a decision is made to consider an applicant further, he or she can be considered on a competitive or noncompetitive basis.
